

MIDDLE GROUND (Garage version)
(Ad Vanderveen)

Intro:

G Am D7 C G

Life is so uncertain, love is so unsure

G Am

Got my feelings hurting shaky to the core

D7 C G

Steps that I've been taking are fading in self doubt

G Am

This life that I've been making, what's it all about

D7 C G

Walked out on my own ones and I left a solid home

Fell into these loving arms feeling so alone

Went against all warnings and I had to have my way

Find myself this morning feeling so far astray

Can't relive the old times or romanticize the past

Just hold on to your beating heart as long as it will last

Mountains won't be higher than the valleys will be deep

And in the end some middle ground is all you get to keep

But living on the middle ground can put you right to sleep

So you go back to the up and downs where the roads are hard and steep

Now you ask me what's certain and what I really know

Well I know I'd be lying saying love will never go

But a woman needs protection in the arms of one who knows

And I never felt so far from love I've never been this close
